

Among the army and navy officers lending their aid to the cause of the colored people, the following are named:—

have no disposition to repeat them. There is no security for it either, as, whatever may be the result of the speculation, we regard the prosperity and destiny of San Francisco as so securely fixed by her natural tion, her capital and her energy, as to defy the efforts of all the consociations that surround her.

MARTINEZ—This new town is laid out in the Coquimbos straits, opposite Beccaria. The proprietor, William M. Smith, Esq. The site of the town is much more pleasant than that of Beccaria, but it is said its vessels of ordinary draft cannot reach the bank as high as at Beccaria, and that consequently it can never become a place of great commerce. However this may be, the proprietor, like those of New York of the 18th century, are making arrangements to build the houses.

starts, and are thus laying the foundation for business establishments.

Napa. — By an advertisement in this sheet, it will be seen that lots in this town are now offered for sale by its proprietor, Joseph P. Thompson, Esq. This place is situated on the bank of the Napa Creek, a tributary of the Bay of San Francisco, and is a beautiful spot.

from San Francisco. It is the center of one of the most beautiful and extensive of the valleys which border the above-named bay, and when men have turned their attention to agricultural pursuits, as must soon be the case, Napa will become the flourishing center of a rich agricultural district.

* Bear | ley of the same name, and is about three miles from the Sonoma Creek. This creek is also a tributary.

The Sausalito Bay—Sausalito is the oldest town on the north side of the Bay, and now has the reputation of being the "harboring town" of the Bay Area. It is a beautiful town, and the appreciation of its scenic beauty is one of the main attractions of the area. The town is located on the north side of the Bay, and is a beautiful town, and the appreciation of its scenic beauty is one of the main attractions of the area.

We have now completed a description of the laws to the northward of San Francisco. In a future issue

For we will make it our duty to describe the other towns, to the eastward and southward of the place.

From the ANA CALENDAR, Vol. 4.

THE GOLDEN EMIGRATION.

Nerves, in the history of man, has a single event universally affected the world as the discovery of the gold mines of California. Coming as it did so close to the banks of the Mexican sea and the revolution of Europe—blasting as it did through the smoke of battle, and, booming above the crash of falling thrones, it seems to have waked the last chord, and struck the last string which was needed to immortalize the age.

usually 14 in California, 20 in other countries, all men wet

[illegible]

of opinion that up to this time (28th June) there have probably arrived in this country since the first of January last about fifteen thousand souls, as follows:

From January 1 to April 1
By sea, say	15,000
From April 1 to June 30
By sea, in 110 vessels. Males, Females	By sea, in 110 vessels. Males, Females
Male 10,000, Female 8,000	Male 10,000, Female 8,000
By land, say	By land, say
Male 10,000, Female 8,000	Male 10,000, Female 8,000

CFR	Pharmacopoeia	44	Merck	42	50
USP	Pharmacopoeia	7	Pharmaceuticals	3	7

New Orleans	10	9	19	Totals	100	0
San Francisco	10	0	0	San Francisco	10	0
New Haven	8	0	0	New York	27	21
Chicago	8	0	0	New South Wales	3	0
San Antonio	1,391	25	0	New Zealand	0	0
Total				Total	5,617	21

By land, from Sumatra and other northern directions (Mexico, Sept. 5, 1900).

The "Yankees" by sea" from 12th April, 1900, June, June, are actual memoranda furnished to me by K. E. A. King, the Harbor Master; the others are summaries of the same.

Of these 15,000 persons, about 5,000 are Americans, 6,000 Mexicans, 2,000 Chileans, and the remaining 2,000 from every country. It will thus be seen that a preponderance of the immigration that has taken place.

The number of inhabitants in the country in the first of January last was probably not far from 15,000, exclusive of Mexicans. Of this number 9,000 were Californians, 5,000 Americans, and 1,000 from all the rest of the world. This would give, then, the character of the present population as follows:

Californians	9,000	Chileans	2,000
Americans	5,000	All other nations	2,000
Mexicans	6,000
Total	20,000		20,000

By the last arrivals from the Atlantic States, there were about 17,000 emigrants en route for this country at the end of the month. The number has already reached 20,000, and the rate will probably reach 25,000 by the end of October. In addition to this, there will already be an immigration of 8,000 by land, which will reach here about the first of November, and if we set down to the number which will come via Panama and Mexico, the probable computation of 3,000 we shall have a total of Americans in California at that time of thirty-five thousand.

The above figures show the probable number of emigrants who will be in California by the last of October, we shall then find the total statement something like this:

Californians	9,000
Americans	5,000
Chileans	2,000
All other nations	2,000
Total	18,000

Of the three thousand already in the country, it is supposed that one-half (including women and children) are engaged in the various business pursuits, and the other half are engaged in digging. We apprehend this will not be found far from correct.

ACCIDENTALLY DROWNED.—R. M. W. Platt, a young man about 24 years of age, recently from the City of

New York was drowned in one of the sloughs at Stockton on the 20th June. He left Stockton on Bessieback, and shortly after his horse was seen galloping about with a rider. A party, headed by the captain, G. G. Bell, then went in search of the missing rider. His ill-fated body was found in the San Joaquin delta. It is supposed that he was drowned in attempting to cross the slough on Bessieback. He was a young man very generally esteemed, and we are informed that he was the son of Mr. J. W. Bell, of the firm of Howland & Aspinwall of the City of New York.

[Late California, July 2.]

MISCELLANEOUS.

ARRIVAL OF ARRIGES.—Within the last 24 hours there have arrived in this port, by stea, 889 emigrants.

From New-York, in 3 steams: $50
" Boston, " 1 " 50
" New-London, " 1 " 50
" Naumuck, " 1 " 20
" Bery, " 1 " 7
" Sandwich Is., " 1 " 100
" Chile, " 3 " 163
" Valparaiso, " 1 " 100
" Sydney, NSW, " 1 " 100
Total, 889

PRICE OF NEWSPAPERS.—The Alta Californian says single copies in wrappers for mailing, on bed at the desk, at 50 cents each.

SIDE-SADDLES.—THE LAST ONE—One of the front

... comers from the "Atlantic side," who had brought with him into this country, among other notions, a lot of dis-

[illegible]

forenoon; it was desperate tiresome work, I tell you. A man with a woman's saddle alone he doubled that

The above incident occurred in San Francisco. Two hours after the narration of this exciting story, a laundress hauled out from Clay St. wharf, bound for the steamer Leak, the Captain of which probably invoked a curse upon the "traps" with which the last passenger had strewn his decks, and that last reader, was the last one to leave the place.

the man with the side-saddles !